

Kane Street Walkers Brooklyn Birding in Brooklyn Bridge Park

Song of Songs 2:12

The time of the nightingale is come, and the voice of the turtledove is heard in our land.

שִׁיר הַנְּשִׁירִים ב

יב הַנְּצָנִים נִרְאוּ בְּאֶרֶץ, עֵת הַזְּמִיר
הַגִּיעַ; וְקוֹל הַתּוֹר, נִשְׁמַע בְּאֶרְצֵנוּ

Brooklyn Birding Suggestions and Etiquette

1. You need binoculars to see birds, so walkers should bring a pair, preferably with a wide field of vision. Anyone who can bring an extra pair should let me know. I have one spare pair.
2. We will follow birders etiquette. (Yes, there are formal rules). Often you need to stay quiet to not disturb the birds. I therefore ask no really young children and no dogs except service animals.
3. When we first gather I can talk briefly about what got me interested in birding and why Brooklyn and NYC are great places for it. We'll review how to look at a bird and the role of amateur birders in citizen science.

I'm looking forward to sharing my passion with Kane Streeters. I'll also hope for decent weather because serious rain cancels – Marisa Wohl, Kane Street Birder
